

LED SIGNS CAN UNITE A COMMUNITY

Most faith-based organizations are pillars in their communities and reaching out to others is a fundamental part of their mission. LED signs offer a cost-effective way for worship communities to connect with their membership and the public for timely information, event and activity details, and inspirational messages.

MESSAGES THAT ENGAGE

An outdoor digital sign can reach congregations and communities more cost effectively than most other forms of advertising. Many worship signs become community landmarks that build a following as people look forward to message updates. A Watchfire sign can extend a welcome to newcomers, share daily or hourly affirmations with your whole community, or communicate information about weddings, festivals and special events.

SOLUTIONS THAT INSPIRE

Keep the information moving with indoor digital signage designed to supplement worship visuals, praise band performances and facility events. ReadyDisplay™ from Watchfire is a line of pre-assembled indoor LED displays designed for hassle-free installation. Each display section is small enough to fit through most interior doors and can often be installed in one day. Available integration with third party worship software makes ReadyDisplay a perfect fit within your AV strategy.

WHY WATCHFIRE

Watchfire's family of digital products brings your congregation the power of LED outreach with legendary quality, reliability and service to back it up. Our Ignite suite of content management software is the only one to come with a free library of over 1,000 stills and animations. Our software lets you schedule content months in advance or make updates in minutes, and because it's cloud-based, you can control your sign from anywhere.
